A highball glass, also known as a highball tumbler, is a versatile and essential piece of glassware commonly used in the world of cocktails and beverages. Typically tall and cylindrical in shape, a highball glass is designed to hold a moderate volume of liquid, usually around 8 to 12 ounces (240 to 350 milliliters). Its straightforward design allows for easy mixing of drinks and is ideal for serving highball cocktails like the classic Gin and Tonic or a refreshing Mojito. The tall sides provide ample room for ice, making it perfect for chilled drinks, and its transparent construction showcases the drink's colors and garnishes, enhancing the overall drinking experience. Highball glasses are a staple in any well-equipped bar or kitchen and are a favorite for enjoying long, refreshing beverages.
